THE TRUTH.

As Christmas draws near, many people are wondering what little token to give friends and relatives to let them know the spirit of good will is still burning. This is how many are satisfactorily solving this question—they are sending photographs. There is nothing you could give that would be more appreciated or appropriate; there is a little touch of personal regard in a photograph that is not conveyed in a present, no matter how expensive. Our dozen photographs will take care of twelve friends of relatives and please them more than expensive presents.

This is what I propose to do to encourage you to do the large number converted to this idea:

For a short time the Jay Studio at Provo, using will make photographs of the very best mount, every a new style finish and the latest made in the state; the picture guaranteed to equal any the cabinet, and the size will be some 10-cents, just one half what they price will be only 3.50 in Utah has ever made so are really worth.

So you will be pleased that your attention has been called to this satisfactory and inexpensive way of dealing with the Christmas present problem.
